

Oklahoma Couple Honored as 2005 Gelbvieh Members of the Year

Randy and Pam Gallaway of Mulhall, Okla., were honored as the American Gelbvieh Association's Members of the Year during the 2005 AGA National Convention in Denver, Colo.

The Gallaways have been active in the American Gelbvieh Association since 1993 and are also members of the Oklahoma Gelbvieh Association and the Kansas Gelbvieh Association. They have worked tirelessly to promote Gelbvieh in Oklahoma through shows and field days.

Randy has served four years as Oklahoma Gelbvieh Association President and was elected to the American Gelbvieh Association Board of Directors in Denver.

Both Randy and Pam work off the farm, so their dedication to Gelbvieh is in addition to full-time jobs. They were the show chairs for the 2004 American Gelbvieh Junior Association Cowboy Classic held in Stillwater last summer. Coordinating sponsors, show facility and a thousand other details fell to Randy and Pam with assistance from a small but dedicated Oklahoma Gelbvieh Association.

The Gallaways were honored as Members of the Year for their efforts above and beyond in the promotion of the Gelbvieh breed and service to the association.

Photo caption:

Pam and Randy Gallaway of Mulhall, Okla., were honored as the 2005 American Gelbvieh Association Members of the Year during the AGA National Convention.